Colville Tribal EOC ask community members to continue social distancing over start of summer

NESPELEM - The Colville Tribal Emergency Operations Center asks community members to continue to be safe over the long holiday weekend.

Along with continuing regular duties, such as meal deliveries to seniors across the reservation and providing personal protective equipment and services to the area businesses, the EOC will do some work to clean area cemeteries.

Crews will mow grasses, pull weeds and remove debris, such as broken branches. The crews will also burn in barrels if the weather permits. To respect individual family traditions and beliefs, crews will not touch individual graves.

While our numbers remain low, we have prevented a widespread outbreak by following these social distancing protocols. However, we know COVID-19 continues to be a threat to our communities.

The Colville Business Council has extended through May 29:

- the prohibition of public gatherings of ten or more people
- the prohibition of camping by non-tribal members or groups of ten or more people
- the closure of fishing and hunting by non-tribal members within the boundaries of the reservation.
- the requirement of residents to remain home except for essential activities
- closure of the Colville Reservation to visitors.

For emergencies, call 9-1-1.
